National Miners Day Today we honor the men and women whose hard work built our communities from the ground up. Miners shaped the backbone of Fayette County. Their labor powered our mills, heated our homes, and fueled the industries that made this region strong. Mining is more than a job. It is grit, sacrifice, and courage. It is families who waited at the door for the sound of boots on the steps at the end of a long shift. It is generations who passed down the pride of providing for their community through some of the toughest work on earth. We remember the miners who lost their lives and those who endured lifelong health struggles. We celebrate the miners who are still working today. And we thank every family who stood behind them. Fayette County was built on the strength of our miners. Their legacy lives in every town, every hill, and every story passed from one generation to the next. Thank you to all who have worn the hard hat and walked into the dark so the rest of us could live in the light.

Today we pause to remember the 2,403 Americans who lost their lives on December 7, 1941 at Pearl Harbor. It was a morning that changed our nation forever. A day of sudden loss, unimaginable courage, and a call to defend the freedoms we hold dear. We honor the sailors, soldiers, Marines, and civilians who faced the attack with strength and resolve. We remember the heroes who ran toward danger to save others. And we reflect on the families who carried the weight of that day for the rest of their lives. Pearl Harbor is a reminder that the cost of freedom is never free. It is carried by brave men and women who stand ready to protect this nation. May we honor their memory not only today, but every day by living with gratitude, unity, and a commitment to the values they defended. We will never forget December 7, 1941.

RECORDER OF DEEDS

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Closure of the County offices on Monday, January 26, 2026

Uniontown, PA – January 25, 2026, Fayette County has made the decision to close all county buildings to the public on Monday, January 26, 2026, due to the winter storm.

Employees working in 24/7 operations should follow protocol for those operations and direct any questions to management. All other employees should telework from home if needed but do not report to county offices. County buildings will be closed to the public.

FACT buses will not be operating on Monday. Any further disruption of FACT service will be announced when decided.

Fayette County Emergency Management and the 911 center is fully staffed with backup protocols in place if needed. EMA continues to monitor the situation with input from the NWS and FEMA, including any power outages.

This decision follows significant deliberation and is based on the following factors:

- Pennsylvania Emergency Declaration: State officials have declared an emergency in anticipation of hazardous conditions.
- Weather Authority Guidance: Forecasts confirm that Fayette County may continue to experience significant snowfall, severely impacting the Monday morning commute.
- Numerous Fayette County municipalities have declared Snow Emergencies: Please check with your local municipality for details.

The Recorder of Deeds put in extra hours tonight to set up Workstation 1 for system testing and will be back tomorrow to complete Workstation 2.

Currently in beta testing. Updates will be shared once public rollout begins.

The Fayette County Recorder of Deeds put in extra hours tonight to complete the setup of Workstation 1 for our User Acceptance Testing (UAT) integration and will be putting in additional hours tomorrow to finish setting up Workstation 2. This work is part of an ongoing modernization effort that will soon bring eRecording, free deed fraud protection, and updated technology to the Recorder of Deeds Office, improving security and efficiency for Fayette County residents. We extend our sincere thanks to our staff for their continued dedication and professionalism during this process. We also appreciate the assistance and guidance provided by fellow Recorder of Deeds offices across the Commonwealth. These upgrades are currently in the beta testing phase and are not yet visible to the public. Further updates will be shared as the rollout progresses.

A promotional graphic for Fayette County Recorder of Deeds UAT updates. The background features a blue sky and a stone building with a clock tower. On the left is the official seal of the Recorder of Deeds for Fayette County, which includes a ship and a plow. The text 'Fayette County' is written in a gold cursive font, and 'RECORDER OF DEEDS' is in a bold, white, sans-serif font. Below this is a yellow and black striped barrier with two orange lights. The words 'UAT UPDATES' are prominently displayed in large, bold, yellow and white letters. A list of four items with yellow checkmarks is shown: 'Secure eRecording', 'Deed Fraud Protection', 'Improved Services', and 'Modern Technology'. At the bottom, a dark blue banner contains the text 'Learn More: > FayetteCorecorderPA.gov/uat' in white and yellow.

Behind the Scenes at the Recorder of Deeds Office The Fayette County Recorder of Deeds Office has launched a new User Acceptance Testing (UAT) webpage to keep the public informed about the work happening behind the scenes as we modernize our office. UAT is the testing phase where new systems are carefully reviewed in a controlled environment before going live. This ensures accuracy, security, and reliability for the public before any new services are rolled out. What this testing is preparing for: • Secure eRecording • Free deed fraud protection for property owners • Improved efficiency and service delivery • Modernized technology that brings our office into the 21st century This page explains what UAT is, what services are being tested, and why some details must remain protected for security reasons. Transparency matters, and this page is part of our commitment to keeping residents informed while safeguarding sensitive systems. You can view the UAT information here: <https://fayettecorecorderpa.gov/uat/> More updates will be shared as testing progresses.

Today we officially wrapped up our first round of UAT (User Acceptance Testing) for our upcoming system upgrades. As expected in any responsible testing phase, we identified several items that needed attention:

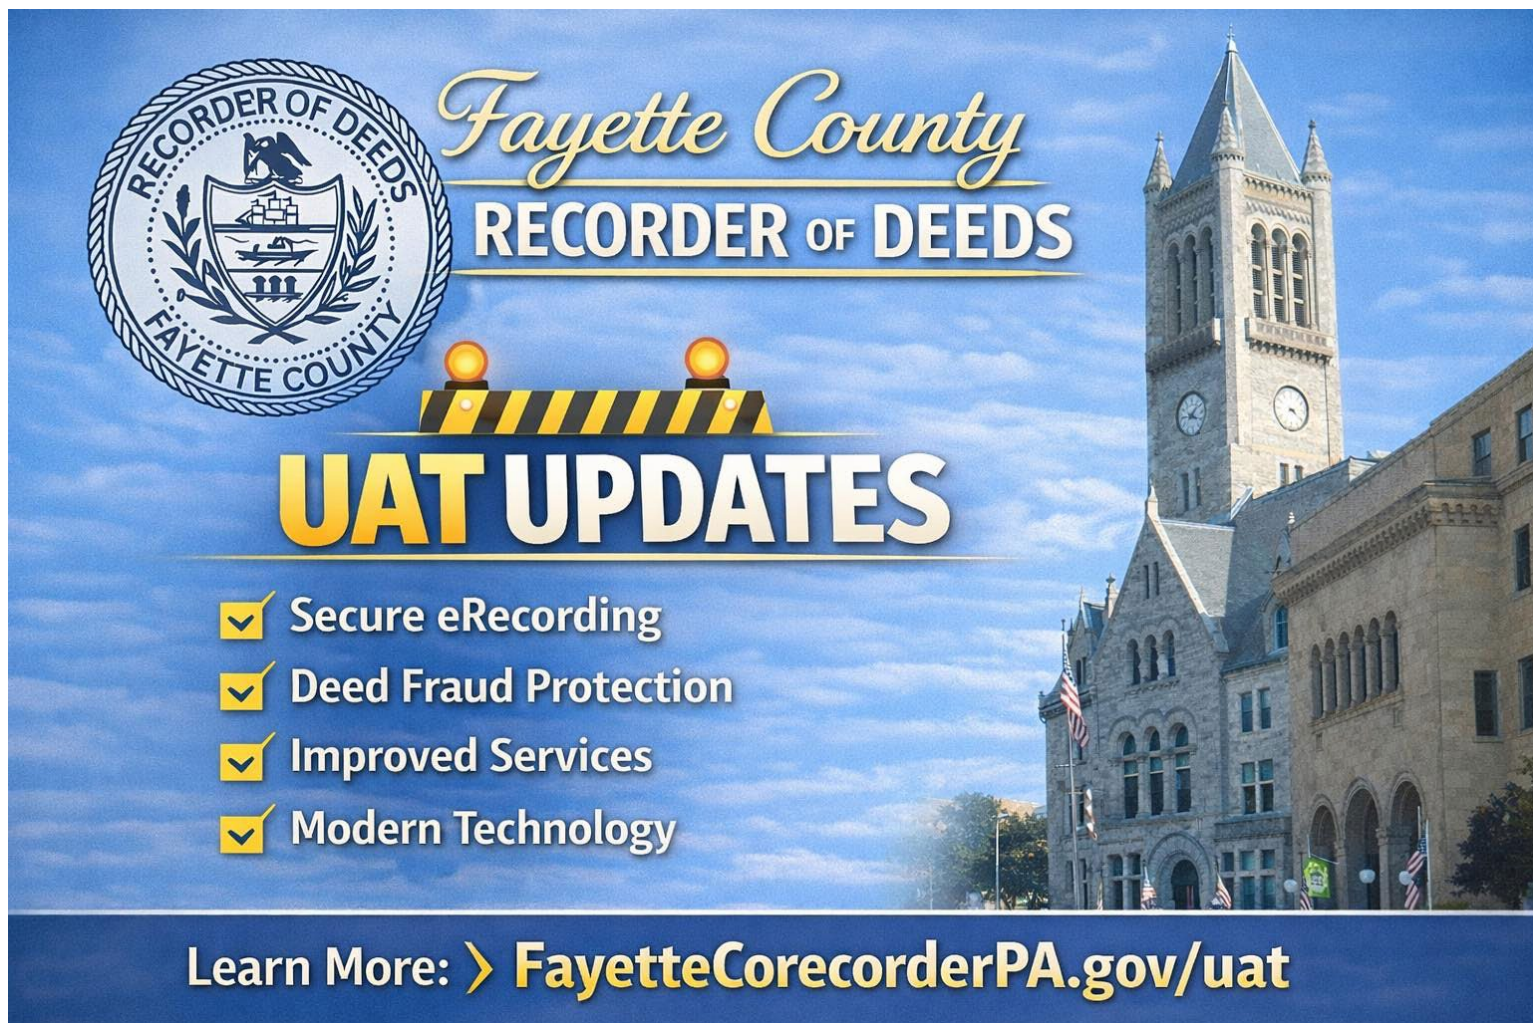

- Certain fees were not presenting correctly
- Some buttons needed to be added while others needed to be removed
- A scanning configuration issue

I am proud to say that the majority of these issues were resolved during the week through coordination and troubleshooting. That is exactly why we conduct structured UAT before any public rollout — to identify and correct issues in a controlled environment. We will be scheduling another round of UAT after additional updates are implemented to ensure everything functions exactly as intended. At this time, we remain on schedule for our projected go-live date later this year. Progress is steady. Testing is working. And we are moving forward responsibly to deliver modern, secure services to the people of Fayette County. More updates to come.

Public Notice from the Fayette County Recorder of Deeds Office With the political cycle once again in full swing, we have seen several inaccurate claims circulating online regarding the Fayette County Recorder of Deeds website. To be clear, the campaign consultant for the Recorder of Deeds did not build, manage, or operate the office website. The website is maintained through a third-party service provider for a minimal administrative fee. That service is operated by Sorna, who serves strictly as a technical administrator. As shown in the system administration records, the only administrative users with access to the site are Jon Marietta and Sorna, who provides technical support for the platform. No campaign organization, political consultant, or outside political group has access to the system. Most importantly, your data and public records remain secure. The Recorder of Deeds Office continues to follow proper procedures to protect records and ensure that Fayette County residents have reliable access to important property and public documents. Our focus remains where it belongs: serving the people of Fayette County, maintaining accurate public records, and providing transparent access to those records. If residents ever have questions about our services or systems, we encourage them to contact the office directly. The Fayette County Recorder of Deeds Office remains committed to professional service, transparency, and the secure preservation of public records.
